

JASON A. HUNT

S P E A K E R | T R A I N E R | O P T I M I S T

Just because you can't meet in person, does not mean that you should put off the greatest investment you can make - developing your employees!

And instead of you trying to figure out how to engage on a virtual platform, let Jason do it. With over 15 years in education, he has mastered the perfect combination of fun and content, both in person and virtually.

His messages on self-leadership, team-leadership, and the leadership of others have transformed organizations throughout Minnesota, so let him help you.

Virtual Topics

Leading Through Crisis

Uncertainty and change. Two words that make most people uncomfortable and two words that are defining 2020. Learn how to stand out as leaders by keeping the right perspective, addressing uncertainty head-on, and being a voice of optimism.

Full Body Leadership™

Leadership is complicated but it all can be broken down into four simple components: A heart that cares, a head that connect, hands that collaborate, and feet that show courage. Master these four and become an exceptional leader.

People are Different, but Predictably Different

Most of us just can't figure people out. We get along with some and deal as little as possible with others. Learn to see the patterns that provide you with clues into the behavior and communication styles of yourself and others using the Maxwell DISC Method.

Cultivating Culture during Crisis

Crisis will either kill your team culture or cultivate it - the difference depends on the intentional actions you take to foster communication, deepen personal relationships, and expand innovation. Learn how to do all three in this timely message.

The 7 Laws of Self-Leadership

It's true, the hardest person to lead is yourself. This direct and inviting message encourages you to leave behind past habits by replacing them intentional daily practices of growth, helping you to become all you can possibly be.

Leading vs Managing: What to do and when

Most leaders struggle to make the development of others a priority because they are caught up in the fires of management. Learn how to reduce the fires and focus on what is truly important: vision, relationships and capacity.

Highly motivational, relevant, and practical for all our leaders! - HR Director Windings

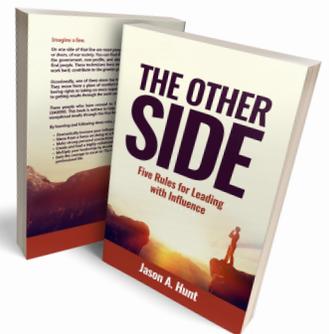

Our team was fragmented and Jason's sessions allowed our team to build trust so we could have open and honest discussion about challenges facing our organization. -President LabelWorks

I would highly recommend any organization who is interested in growing their leaders to engage in work with Jason. -VP Doherty Staffing

Jason Hunt helps leaders bring out the very best in those that they serve through speaking and training.

At 19 he was leading a branch of 100 church members in outer Siberia and since then, he has been in various leadership positions, including principal of a junior high. Jason has a masters degree from the University of Minnesota in leadership, is a member of the National Speakers Association, and is certified by the John Maxwell Leadership Institute. He's also the author of The Other Side: Five Rules for Leading with Influence.

Consider Jason if you'd like a high energy, engaging presentation that will leave participants inspired, educated, and empowered for greater personal and professional growth. For additional training topics see influencingforimpact.com/training.

Partial List of Clients

See video's, testimonials, training topics and more at:

www.i2eyesquared.com/speaking

507.363.3842 jason@i2eyesquared.com

